

Dear Customer

On April 27, 2022, the Sandvik AB annual general meeting decided to distribute its business area Sandvik Materials Technology to the shareholders of Sandvik. Sandvik Materials Technology will therefore be separately listed as a standalone company group on Nasdaq Stockholm stock exchange, which is expected to take place August 31, 2022.

As part of the separate listing Sandvik Materials Technology will be renamed to Alleima™. The date of the activation of the new name and brand may vary in different countries but is intended to happen no later than August 31, 2022.

The separate listing of Sandvik Materials Technology and rebranding to Alleima™ will not affect the business operations or the legal entity structure of Sandvik Materials Technology. This means that there will be no changes to current company registration numbers, VAT-numbers, bank accounts etc. The same applies to existing contracts, orders and other rights and commitments which will remain in force.

As a highly appreciated partner we inform you of the following changes and ask you to update your systems accordingly valid from August 31, 2022.
